Villa Beroe

Gazing out to sea from amongst its olive trees, Villa Beroe combines just about everything that is desirable about a holiday home: flexible space, bright, calming interiors, relaxing gardens, a dreamy al fresco dining area and that most delicious of watery trilemmas: to spend more time swimming in the sea, floating in the infinity pool, or wallowing in the plunge pool.

DESCRIPTION

Inside: accommodation at Villa Beroe is spread over three houses just a few steps from each other. The central main house is an open-concept communal space comprising a kitchen-diner opening out onto an al fresco dining area, and, down a few steps, a comfy sea-view living area looking out over and accessing the pool and hydromassage plunge pool. A shower room completes the accommodation of the main house.

The second and third houses, one on either side of the main house are, in effect, independent bedroom suites. The main suite hosts a double bedroom with en-suite shower room, a small sitting area, a kitchenette and a mezzanine level with twin beds, suitable for children. The other has a double bedroom with en-suite shower room, a single children's bedroom on an open mezzanine level, and a private terrace outside. Both suites have sea views and access to the decked terraces.

Furnishings, fittings and decoration at Villa Beroe create a light, airy atmosphere that inspires relaxation and repose.

Outside: Villa Beroe is hidden away in a garden of whispering olive groves overlooking the irresistible blue waters of the Ionian Sea. All the property's outdoor areas are oriented towards this view, so no matter where you are outside, whether you're dining, lounging, floating in the infinity pool or bubbling in the plunge pool, gorgeous vistas abound.

Decking runs along the front of the property, connecting the three houses, the pool area and panoramic sitting areas, bringing guests together for convivial dinners under the stars while at the same time leading to peaceful spots for an afternoon hammock-nap under the shade of an olive tree. For al fresco dining, guests may choose between a shaded area just outside the kitchen or an area below the pool equipped with barbecue and sink.
