DESCRIPTION

ISHQ is a five-bedroomed luxury villa that first came to be in the 1990s, a part of the original fabric of the island's first luxury villas designed by the renowned architect Bruce Fell-Smith. Today, the villa marries a love for clean design with oceanic hues and brings together all the comforts of a boutique hotel with the privacy and exclusivity of a private villa.

Located along Galle's 'French Riviera' of Talpe, less than two hours from Colombo's international airport, ISHQ is a four-bedroomed luxury villa that first came to be in the 1990s, a part of the original fabric of the island's first luxury villas designed by the renowned architect Bruce Fell-Smith.

Set right across a turquoise Indian Ocean shore, palm-fringed on both ends, the villa marries a love for airy spaces and soft and chic interiors with all the comforts of a boutique hotel and the privacy and exclusivity of a private villa.

ISHQ is all at once informal and homely but bespoke in services and the finer details in luxury holidaying - taking its name from the Persian word for love. And what's not to love?
