Villa Myra

Facing the Aegean and bathed in light, Villa Myra was constructed by its owners; two experienced Civil Engineers, in 2019 on Makria Miti area, a small cape on the Southern coastline of Paros, as an extremely high standard modern villa. A great example of clean lines and cubic shapes that breathe in harmony between the principles of minimalist design and the traditional Cycladic Architecture with respect to the natural environment and scenery.

DESCRIPTION

Villa Myra represents literally the cubist aesthetics of architecture which rests in balance within its landscape. Large cubes are rising through the Cycladic earth, forming an abstract of geometrically shaped structures which blend perfectly with the surrounding environment. Sharp clean lines and exquisite colours like pure white dominate the design, ensuring that it is viewed in perspective with ease. Simplicity is an overriding characteristic.

Due to the villa's secluded location, any guest has a unique opportunity to live like an islander as much as to use it as an ideal base to explore the island's secrets. It is a place of great privacy dedicated to its guests and their desire to dream in serenity creating new memories.

Villa Myra is a stand-alone villa which can accommodate up to 10 persons.

In the upper part of the building, which consists of several cubes inter-connected, we find four (4) double bedrooms with built-in closets and beds with extra comfortable mattresses. Large and small windows in every room offer stunning views of the sea while providing plenty of natural light. Each room also has its own outdoor terrace, where the garden gives a sense of the local nature's scent.

Other than the pure white colour which is used as a dominant element of the villa, concrete also defines the minimalist way of the design. Four (4) bathrooms, found in the same upper part of the building- are made by modern variations of the substance of concrete and look just outstanding.

Towards the bedrooms, 2 storage rooms provide iron, ironing board, fast cleaning tools and everything is needed as about cleaning in case of a need, etc.

Moving forward, an open-plan fully equipped kitchen, a spacious living room with built-in sofas and a dining area, are arranged as a transition to the exterior using the same materials as everywhere around in order to give a boundless feeling. In direct succession of the interior, a beautiful pool area with comfortable sofas, loungers, sun beds, bean bags, pool pillows, and a barbeque area with dining table and chairs in the exterior, welcomes you to enjoy your vacation within the island's atmosphere.
